Texas distillers support the Craft Beverage Modernization and Tax Reform Act (H.R. 1175/S. 362). If Congress doesn't enact the Craft Beverage Modernization and Tax Reform Act by the end of the year, craft distillers could face a 400% tax increase. Combined with current financial uncertainty, that would force many distillers to permanently close their doors.

Texas and Distilled Spirits

- The first Texas distillery was established in 1995.
- Today, Texas has over 150 distillers – up from 8 in 2008.
- Texas distillers make whiskeys, rums, vodkas, and specialty spirits.

Quotes from Distillers

“The Craft Beverage Modernization and Tax Reform Act enabled my business to grow from 11 to 40 employees over the past few years. Additionally, we were able to acquire one of the largest custom-built potstills in North America. Finally, distilled spirits producers are now taxed on par with wineries and breweries. If this legislation is not permanently renewed, it will be devastating for our industry.”

“Principally, the Federal Excise Tax reduction has allowed our Company - Balcones Distilling LLC - to reinvest all of our excise tax savings back into additional personnel, production upgrades, as well as sales and marketing activities.”

“As the President of the Texas Distilled Spirits Association I receive calls weekly from fellow distillers across Texas who are dependent on the CBMTRA bill being extended. The CBMTRA was not designed to be a tax-cutting bill but more so a job-creating and business expansion bill and it is working not only in Texas but across the entire country.”
