Reasonable Adjustments

DISCUS recognizes that some students require special arrangements when it comes to our examinations, and this policy aims to explain what you are entitled to request. A reasonable adjustment is any action that helps to reduce the effect of a disability or difficulty that places the candidate at a substantial disadvantage through educational processes, including the assessment of knowledge. DISCUS seeks to secure equal opportunity to all candidates to follow the processes of education and examination in a way that puts them at no disadvantage, or advantage, over other candidates. Reasonable adjustments will not give unfair advantage over candidates for whom reasonable adjustments are not being made or affect the reliability and validity of the assessment outcomes.

A reasonable adjustment is unique to you and may not be included in the list of available access arrangements. Whether an adjustment will be considered reasonable will depend on several factors, which may include:

- the needs of the student;
- the effectiveness of the adjustment;
- the cost of the adjustment; and
- the likely impact of the adjustment upon the student and other students.

An adjustment will not be approved if it:

- involves unreasonable costs to DISCUS;
- involves unreasonable timeframes; or
- affects the security and integrity of the course administration or examination.

Provided Adjustments may include:

- Changing standard assessment arrangements, for example allowing candidates extra time to complete the assessment activity
- Adapting assessment materials, such as providing materials in large text format;
- Providing access facilitators during assessment, such as a sign language interpreter or reader
- Re-organizing the assessment room, such as removal of visual stimuli for an autistic candidate.

Arrangements for the use of third parties (such as an interpreter or scribe) during the examination will normally be your responsibility however DISCUS will take reasonable steps to source suitable persons if you are not able to do so. For further information, please contact education@distilledspirits.org.

Applying for a reasonable adjustment

The Request for Reasonable Adjustment must be accompanied with evidence, which will be turned over to WSET and handled in accordance with their data privacy policies

Special Considerations

Special consideration will be given to candidates who have been temporarily disadvantaged as a result of illness, injury, or adverse circumstances at the time of the assessment. Special consideration will not give unfair advantage over candidates for whom special consideration is not being applied.

A candidate may be eligible for special consideration if:

- Performance in an assessment is affected by circumstances beyond the control of the candidate. This may include recent personal illness, accident, bereavement or examination room conditions;
- Alternative assessment arrangements which were agreed in advance of the assessment proved inappropriate or inadequate;
- The application of special consideration would not mislead the user of the certificate as to the candidate's attainment.

Please note all assessment requirements of the WSET requirements must be met – no awards will be offered outside of these parameters.

Applying for special consideration

To be eligible for Special Consideration, please provide documentation outlining the Special Consideration being sought within 5 working days from the exam date to the Examination Officer at education@distilledspirits.org.
